ASATHOMA SADGAMAYA
SAMATHOMA JYOTHIRMAYA
MRUTHYOMA AMURTHOMYOGA

Lead us from darkness to light and wisdom, unreality to reality and from death to peaceful abode.

I have great pleasure to inform the members of Indian Association of Surgical Oncology of A.S.I. that it was the first time a sectional conference was conducted out side India. It was conducted in corroboration with Nepal Cancer Society at Kathmandu, Nepal from 8th to 10th June, 1994. The experiment was a grand success. The I.A.S.O. member, Dr. R.S. Rao along with me examined and advised cancer patients on 7th June, 1994. The C.M.E. programme was on 8th June, at Bhakatpur and on 9th and 10th June 1994 at Benapur and in the Imperial Staff College, Patan, respectively. Dr. A.K. Sharma, FRCS., and other members of Nepal Cancer Society worked hard for the success of the Conference and I.A.S.O. Members participated well with presentation of papers of high academic value.

The Hon. Prime Minister of Nepal inaugurated the Conference on 8th June, 1994 and appreciated the efforts of I.A.S.O. to combat cancer. The Prime Minister of Nepal hosted a reception to the Members of I.A.S.O. and Nepal Cancer Society. The Indian Ambassador to Nepal, Shri Yadav Prasad, received the Members on the morning of 11th June and served with sweets and Tea. The prestige of I.A.S.O. and A.S.I. has greatly increased and the eminent members like, President, I.A.S.O., Dr. R.S. Rao, Prof. N.C. Misra and Prof. Mrs.

The News Bulletin of I.A.S.O. is the first of any section of A.S.I. to bring out every year and I am proud to say twice in 1994. It is informative with scientific programme, summaries of papers presented and above all computerised list of its members. In my tenure the membership increased and in the forth coming Annual Conference at Cuttack in December, 1994 about 100 free papers will be presented in I.A.S.O. Section apart from orations and symposia.

I have great satisfaction about the progress of I.A.S.O. and look forward to further improvements in future.

I am thankful to Hon. Secretary, Prof. H.S. Shukla and Editorial Secretary Dr. Sandeep Kumar for the constant and unstinted support and help to run the I.A.S.O. smoothly and efficiently during my tenure.

I thank all the members for their co-operation and senior members for their guidance.

I wish I.A.S.O. improve and progress by leaps and bounds

DR. J.B. VENKAT RAO

For the medical community, the last few months have been dominated events- the so called plague epidemic and the International Cancer Congress concluded in New Delhi. The "Plague" generated panic. It attracted tremor from the media and plagued the efforts of the organisers of this mega meet- to smother their enthusiasm. Trying to bring in the over four thousand foreign had originally managed to register, became a struggle, in the words of the Organising Secretary, Praful Desai: The plague epidemic soon subsided but succeeded in inflicting a severe enough damage to this mega event planned of Deepawali. And then, if we continue to be so prone to bacterial disease scale killers, one might well question the relevance of India hosting a conference on Cancer.

The venues for the Congress were five internationally renowned five star hotels- the famous Vigyan Bhawan known for its unique decor and elegance. The help by the organisers and their meticulous arrangements were obvious at the very Congress was inaugurated by the Prime Minister and Lata Mangeshkar regaled with her melody. But the lull became obvious even on the second day. The dining areas which were strictly guarded on the first day, were opened to all exhibitors, having gauged the size and mood of the crowd, were unloading various gifts they had brought with them.

There were fewer whites, the yellows from the Land of the Rising Sun and of the African continent, were conspicuous by their absence. Each of them reasons for not coming but most gave a rodentine excuse.

After the crowded plenary sessions at the Ashoka, the delegates dispersed for other conference venues, using the efficient fleet of immaculate air-conditioned cars. Occasionally, one would recognise an old face in the crowd and gallivant with them; but promises to meet again and- 'will-surely have a "chat" or "boil the pot" past, faded away in the multi-centricity of this mega meeting.

The question invariably asked by the laymen, the press and the non attendees upon return, was, "Was there anything new you learnt?" One always picks up Surely, nobody reads so many journals or listens to so many papers in 5 days do at a conference like this. The messages, "Fight Cancer Regardless" and 'Fight all the Way' were all too well taken. There were many interesting sessions devoted to education and preventive oncology. The coverage by the guest and the lead wide and bold. Screenings, Oncogenes, Onco-viruses, apoptosis and totipotency were some of the themes taken up and reported in the dailies.

Of the proffered papers and the posters, the majority presented in any hall, were all we have the largest scientific community in the world. For some, this was their first 'CVs' with an entry that they participated in an international conference.

turning the time limits and the chairpersons apologising for them. Floor participation masterfully controlled with the timely suggestion that if an honourable floor participant a curious question to ask, he could well hold it over for discussion, personally, with the speaker during the coffee break.

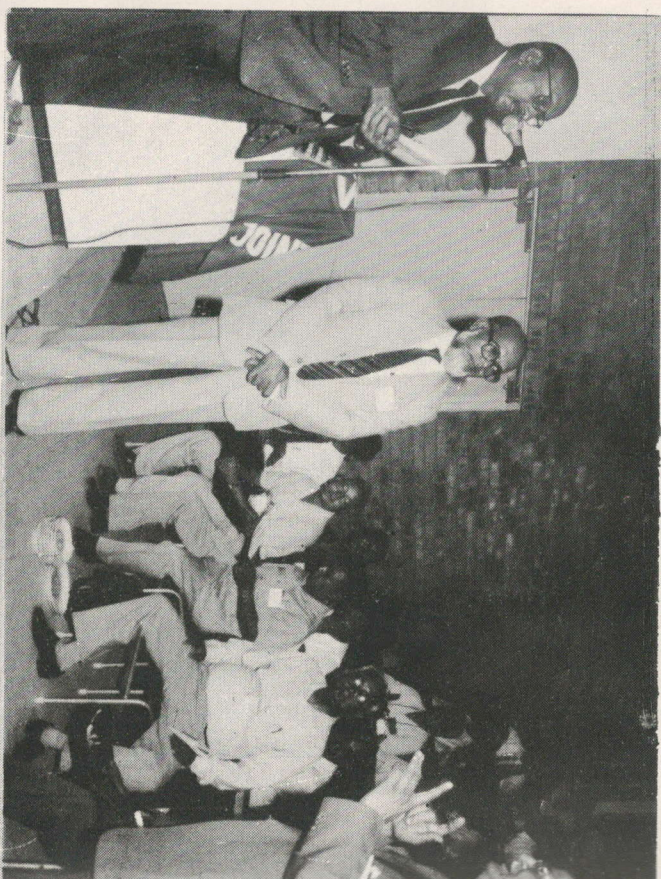

IASO also organised earlier in the year, its first ever overseas (across the border, to be accurate) meeting at Kathmandu. Dr. A.K. Sharma had left no stone unturned in making the occasion a memorable experience. The CME and the proffered paper sessions were all too well attended.

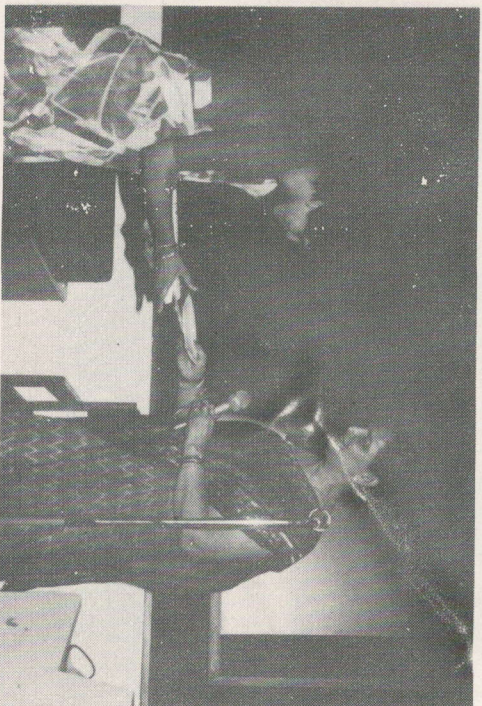

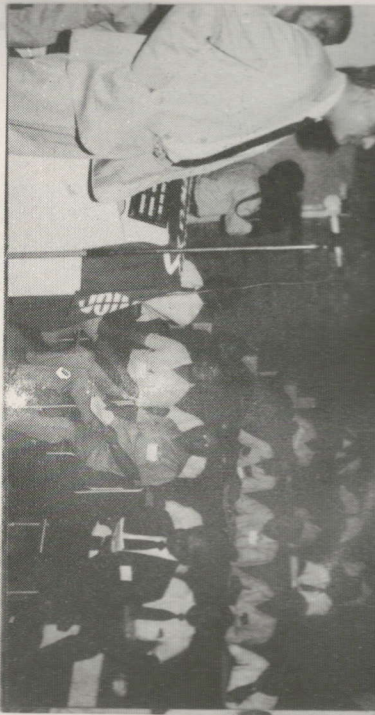

The newsletter covers the programme of the IASO papers for the Cuttack conference. The newsletter is now planning a directory of all its members. It would be good if the form enclosed is filled and mailed to us early.

Wishing you all a very Happy New Year

SURGICAL ONCOLOGY TRAINING PROGRAM IN NORTH AMERICA

MAJOR P.C. SHARMA

Dr. Raj Govind Sharma from Jaipur had given us a succinct review of the status of On training in India (Newsletter IASO 1994, Vol.8 No.1). There are four centers of MCh-Surgical Oncology in India:

1. Thiruvananthapuram, 2. Madras, 3. Ahmedabad and 4. Bangalore. These centres at present show uniformity in the training programmes. To produce internat competitive surgical oncologists, strict guidelines for training must be adopted. To give guidance to the policy-makers we are reproducing in an abridged version of the programme of the American Society of Surgical Oncology. The Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada has a separate training programme on similar lines.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF SURGICAL ONCOLOGY Guidelines for Surgical Onc Training (1992).

A two-year training program is suggested.

OBJECTIVES

(A) Knowledge, skills and clinical experiences.

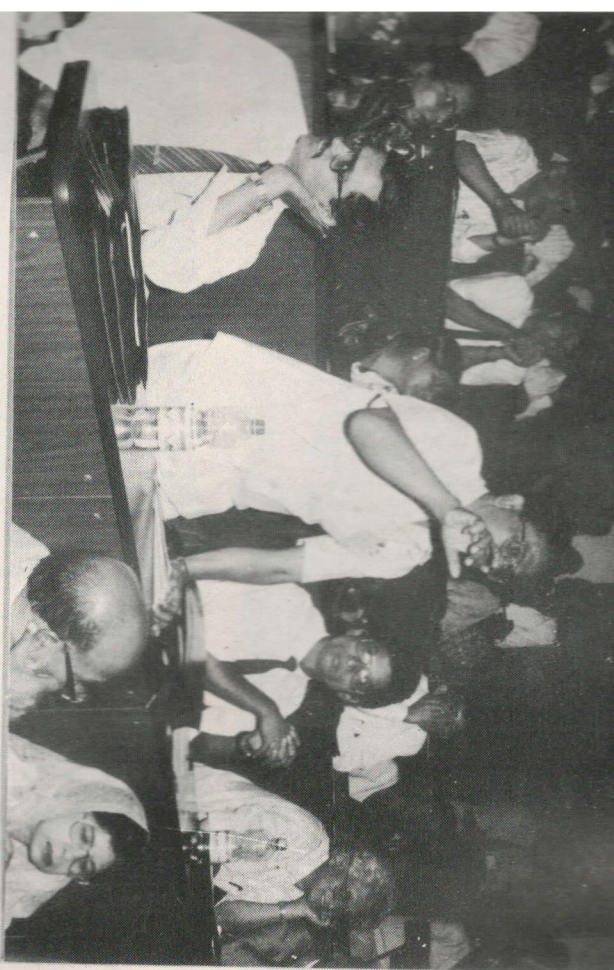

1. Comprehensive management of cancer arising in the abdomen, breast, head & neck and limbs. The trainee should be able to perform usual operations including complex/recurrent neoplasms and various palliative operations.

2. A broad knowledge of other cancer treatment modalities (Radiotherapy, Chemo-endocrine Therapy) and fundamentals of tumour immunology and biology.

(B) Cancer Research : Ability to design and conduct prospective clinical trials.

(C) Cancer Education : Ability to train students and physicians in cancer management to conduct cancer related public education programmes.

(D) Institutional Leadership in Oncology : Skills in developing a tumour registry, psychological rehabilitation for cancer patients and their families; ability to organise meetings and discussions on cancer patient care.

A. General Comments:

Surgical Oncology fellowship should encompass a minimum of two years training following completion of general surgical residency. At least 18 months should be devoted to clinical training and the rest of the time should be used by rotation on non surgical oncology services. There should be adequate interaction with companion surgical specialties (thoracic, gynaecology, urology, orthopaedic, paediatric, neuro and reconstructive) in overall management of cancer patients.

1. Advanced Surgical Oncology Training:

The minimum number of operative cases (as surgeon or first assistant) performed is listed below as per anatomic regions:-

Head and Neck : 20 operative cases

- Oral cavity tumours.
- Resections of tumours of base of tongue, pharynx, larynx, maxilla and base of skull.
- Radical neck dissections-partial, modified or complete.
- Major resections for melanoma, salivary gland tumours, squamous/basal cell carcinomas, thyroid and soft tissue tumours.

Trunk and Extremities:

- Major resections for melanomas.
- Soft tissue/bone tumours.
- Radical lymph node dissections (inguinal, iliac, axillary).
- Major amputations (hemipelvectomy, forequarter amputation).
- Isolated limb perfusion for chemotherapy.

Breast.

Abdominal Cavity :

- Gastro intestinal.
- Liver, biliary ducts and pancreas.
- Retroperitoneal.
- Pelvic surgery (including recurrent/metastatic disease).

All categories should be represented. A total of 80 cases in categories 2,3,4, of which not less than 10 cases should be in any category.

In addition the trainee should have involvement in management of patients treated by medical oncologist including:

Staging for lymphomas.

Resections for distant metastatic disease.

The trainee should make a continuous log of type and number of surgical cases which he participated. (Format as required by American Board of Surgery)

C. Non Surgical Oncologic Training :

- Radiation Oncology - one month
- Surgical Pathology - one month
- Systemic Therapy - one month
- Clinical investigation - Methodology of clinical trials including biostatistics, design of clinical research protocols and establishing databases.
- Supportive & rehabilitation care-The trainee must be experienced in supportive care to cancer patients. This includes total parenteral alimentation, surgical emergency care, rehabilitation services including reconstructive surgery and rehabilitation after extremity surgery, mastectomy and major head & neck surgery.

D. Research Training:

Each trainee should participate in an investigative project. Clinical and basic research should be included in training & the trainee should be familiar with statistical methods.

Date:

Signature of Applicant.

- (i) Those members of the Association of Surgeons of India who are practicing Cancer Surgery.
- (ii) Those who have completed an acceptable training in Cancer Surgery.
- (iii) Those who pursue research in Cancer Surgery or related subject, are eligible for becoming member.

(b) Associate Membership:

Those who are under training in Cancer Surgery or those who are interested in Cancer Surgery but belong to other specialities such as Radiology, Pathology, Bio Chemistry.

ELECTION OF MEMBER:

Candidates for full / life or associate membership shall be sponsored by two members of ASI and the executive committee of IASO will admit the member after due consideration of his application. Hon. Members will be elected by the executive committee subject to confirmation by governing body of the ASI.

SUBSCRIPTION

- (a) An enrollment fee of Rs. 100/- shall be paid by Life/associate members.
- (b) Life membership subscription will be Rs.500/-.
- (c) Full subscription is payable at the time of application.
- (d) Cheques/Drafts should be drawn in favour of Indian Association of Surgical Oncology.
- (e) Cheques on banks other than in the city of Varanasi should include a sum of Rs. 15/- towards bank charges.

- (Given below is a summary of the issues concerning preventive strategies highlighted during Dr. S.P. Srivastava Memorial Oncology Oration, Association of Surgeons of India, 1994, delivered by Dr. S.P. Kharey on 2
1. Cancer control encompasses the whole spectrum from prevention at to therapy and palliation
 2. Cancer burden in India is rising in both absolute and relative term in longevity, associated with changes in life-style. While the incidence from 77 per one lakh population in 1982 to 150 per lakh by 2000, rise from 50% to 66% only. Thus, advances in treatment alone will burden, apart from high costs. Focus in cancer control must shift
 3. Cancer is largely a preventable disease, and over 70% cancers can adoption of healthy lifestyle.
 4. Primary prevention is the most effective tool for cancer control, understanding of etiology.
 5. High risk factors are Tobacco, Alcohol, Diet and Obesity oncoprotective and oncopromotive factors.
 6. Dilemma in cancer control is whether to adopt public health approach likely to benefit larger numbers, or to adopt individual approach maximum benefit only to individuals at high risk. A complimentary approach is ideal.
 7. Screening should be practiced if and only if it has been shown to be cost-effective.
 8. Education in cancer prevention implies educating public as profession.
 9. Carcinogenesis is a multi-stage process, beginning at the sub-cellular level (but is not inherited) and it can be interrupted.
 10. New promising approaches under evaluation are chemopreventive agents and identification of predisposing genes.
 11. Chemo-prevention consists of use of agents during neoplastic phase of Carcinoma-in-situ to prevent development and propagation of malignant cells.
 12. Bio-markers are used to assess risk of individual patient for cancer and efficacy of chemopreventive agents to alter it.

14. New vistas have opened with mapping of human genome. Both oncogenes and tumour suppressor genes have been identified and genetic testing for cancer is an upcoming area. Role of counselling, genetic engineering and prophylactic surgery are still being defined.
15. Major challenge in cancer prevention is to persuade people to adopt healthy life-style, which would eliminate atleast 2/3 cancers.
16. Given the limited resources and mortality trends, cessation of use of tobacco in all forms is the highest priority, followed by abstinence of alcohol and adoption of onco-preventive dietary habits. Abstinence from tobacco will give other health benefits. An oncopreventive life-style is also cardioprotective.
